Never Lose Another Customer to Missing Integrations

The average enterprise uses hundreds of applications and expects every solution they buy to connect with their existing stack. With CData as your embedded data connectivity partner, you can give customers a comprehensive, reliable, and up-to-date library of integrations without draining your in-house development resources.

- Embed or fully white label our technologies into your applications
- Support direct API integrations with standards-based SQL data connectors
- Enable customers to build data pipelines into your data warehouse with modern ETL/ELT

Embeddable Data Pipelines for Replicated Data

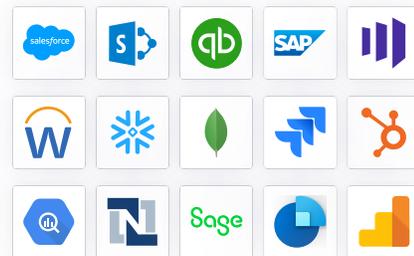

CData Sync is a modern ETL/ELT solution trusted by enterprises worldwide to build data pipelines at scale. With embedded Sync pipelines, your customers can instantly replicate data from their tools into your product.

300+ Embeddable Data Connectors for Live Data Access

Every API is different, making integration unscalable. CData SQL Connectors provide a standardized layer so you can read, write and access data from every enterprise data source the same way to quickly ship integrations at scale.

- Focus Development on Your Core Product, Not Integrations
- Ship Enterprise Integrations in Weeks, Not Years
- Offload Ongoing API Maintenance Headaches

"CData has been a data-connectivity partner for Tableau for several years - they simplify our ability to support integration with the data sources our customers care about. We love innovating with companies like CData to help extend our data connectivity options."
